

City Bakery

City Bakery

Why?

The City Bakery is a one of a kind cafe that I like to escape to after hard days. Besides being a great place to grab a bite to eat, the design aesthetic is pretty amazing, in regards to the interior and graphic design materials.

Where is it?

18th street between 6th and 5th Avenue

What happens there?

People eat, they drink coffee, they read, talk with friends and surf the internet.

How big is it?

2 stories, it's not a wide or spacious place, but it is really deep and tall.

Who or what is this space designed for?

I would say Foodies, locals, hipsters, artists and people who like artisanal and delicious cuisine.

Is it clean or dirty?

It looks clean to me.

Quiet or loud?

A little bit of both. But, not in an obnoxious way.

If your space is public, is there a flow: do people pass through, or stay for a long time?

This place is for everybody. Some people stay and relax, while others grab food and go.

Is the space composed primarily of soft or hard materials?

It's a combination of soft and hard.

Is there an echo?

No.

What colors are associated with this space?

Blue, Brown(wood), white, red and yellow.

What kind of light does it receive?

This place has great lighting.

<https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=Exo3v46TS2Q>

https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=kd_n4yjR3NM

<https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=ftNPmu5hxDo>

<https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=PkSXImZBrIY>