

Space: Madison Square Park

Why did you choose this space? I enjoy parks, normally in warmer weather, and since this is the closest one that isn't always full, I normally go here. Also it has a Shake Shack which is always good.

Where is it? 23rd and 5th

What happens there? park... stuff?

How big is it? goes up 3 streets and is between 2 avenues.

Who or what is this space designed for? designed for humans

Is it clean or dirty? Pretty clean, cleaner than Union Square Park for sure

Quiet or loud? Pretty mild, depends on the time of day. If your on the southside towards 23rd it's louder, but the northside and the middle of the park are relatively quiet.

If your space is public, is there a flow: do people pass through, or stay for a long time? It's a public space where people linger sometimes. I pass through it sometimes to catch a break from all the buildings.

Is the space composed primarily of soft or hard materials? Primarily hard materials. Pretty natural, except the plethora of railing/ fences, and paved pathways.

Is there an echo? No real acoustics to it.

What colors are associated with this space? Green, maybe some asphalt color.

What kind of light does it receive? Sun light during the day, if it's a sunny day. Weather dependent.
